Do you find the World Festival of Children's Theatre an exciting event?

Do you work with children's groups in the areas theatre, dance, or movement theatre?

Do you have a production, you'd like to show?

Apply now! We are looking forward to your application!

In November 2017 an international jury of experts for children's theatre will choose, which groups will be invited! Please find all the important information in the Announcement.

In 2018 we would like to celebrate a World Festival of Children's Theatre which enables adults and children to international encounters, which also includes initiatives of theatre work with refugees; a festival which revels diversity, and through the theatre play of children allows for glimpses into their world. So let's move it!

With kind regards
